Appendix

We believe these concepts are important in building strong communities:

Manaaki Sharing what we have to offer with respect and thoughtfulness for each other.

Aroha Willingly giving to others with the understanding that accepting is just as significant

Tautoko Including and supporting each other reflects our sense of community. It is desirable that all people can participate in the life of the community

Tiaki Caring for 'our place - our home' affirms our belonging and environmental stewardship as a community.

Whakawhanaungatanga Healthy relationships build and sustain community

Mana Community development ways of working enhance and strengthen the community

Kaitiakitanga As custodians of both financial and knowledge resources we accept the responsibility to use these wisely

Examples of how we will put these concepts into practise:

Manaaki We will encourage generosity of time money and spirit through projects and social marketing campaigns

Aroha We will work collaboratively with other funders. We will also provide information and advice for applicants both individually and in group

Tautoko We will continue to provide opportunities for relevant, generic professional development.

Tiaki We will support well considered projects and services that encourage environmental sustainability

Whakawhanaungatanga We will encourage civic participation through events and social marketing campaigns.

Mana We will use community development practices that respect the legitimate aspirations of our communities.

Kaitiakitanga We will work within our policies and criteria and review them from time to time.
