Assessment will be consistent with and reflect the underlying concepts (Hauora, socio-ecological perspective, health promotion, attitudes and values) of the Health and Physical Education learning area in The New Zealand Curriculum, page 22.

This standard is also derived from Te Marautanga o Aotearoa. For details of Te Marautanga o Aotearoa achievement objectives to which this standard relates, see the Papa Whakaako for the relevant learning area.

- Take action to enhance an aspect of people's well-being within the school or wider community* involves:

- identifying an issue that affects the well-being of people within the school or wider community
- developing a workable plan to improve well-being
- implementing the plan
- evaluating the effectiveness of the action by reflecting on the implementation of the plan.

A workable plan relates to SMART goals.

Take in-depth action to enhance an aspect of people's well-being within the school or wider community involves:

- developing a detailed plan linked to the issue
- evaluating the effect of the implementation of the plan on well-being, using evidence.

Take comprehensive action to enhance an aspect of people's well-being within the school or wider community involves:

- developing a plan that includes actions that are critical for addressing the issue and explanations of these
- critically evaluating the outcomes for individual and community well-being.

Critical evaluation of the outcomes will be shown, for example, through a relevant combination of:

- use of evidence to show that the actions have resulted in a positive impact on people's well-being as planned
- reasons based on evidence for the failure of actions to achieve the overall goal
- alternative or additional actions required to meet the overall goal and reasons for these
- whether the actions impacted on all or only some people and reasons for this
- next steps for sustainability of the impacts on well-being achieved by the actions.

3 Assessment may be based on the following key areas of learning: mental health, sexuality education, food and nutrition, or body care and physical safety.
