

Head of Grant and Business Development and Alliance management

Basel, Switzerland

BioVersys AG is a dynamic Swiss biopharmaceutical company which was founded in 2010 as a spin-off from the ETH Zurich. The company focuses on R&D of innovative small molecules, which act on bacterial transcriptional regulators and thus interfere with resistance of bacterial pathogens and restore the efficacy of approved antibiotics. BioVersys has strong international collaborations (e.g. GSK, Institut Pasteur), its own lab space at the Technologiepark in Basel and currently employs ten people.

BioVersys is now seeking a new team member with excellent communication skills and a strong scientific background to support the entire team in writing and managing grant applications and to work closely with the CEO on Business Development and Alliance management.

YOUR PROFILE

The ideal candidate brings:

- | | |
|--|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">✓ Strong scientific background in Biology (MSc degree or PhD level)✓ Fluent in English✓ 5+ years experience in a similar position✓ Strong communication skills✓ Experienced in grant writing | <ul style="list-style-type: none">✓ Good understanding of therapeutic needs and therapies in infectious disease✓ High level of initiative and independence✓ Former working experience in a start-up company is an additional plus |
|--|---|

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We offer you a highly interesting working environment and challenging responsibilities in a dynamic, multi-award winning startup company. You will work closely with the existing management team. Your experience in alliance management and grant writing helps you to efficiently scout for opportunities and to position BioVersys' drug development projects successfully at an international level. You will manage multiple partners and collaborations, file additional grant applications and support the CEO in business development activities for in- and out-licensing.

Starting date for this position is as soon as possible. Place of work will be Basel, Switzerland, at the heart of a multi-national environment. In case of interest, send your full application to tina.moriconi@bioversys.com.

Please visit our homepage for more information: www.bioversys.com