COVER IMAGE

The Tempest

Twelve years after he and his infant daughter are kidnapped and abandoned to the mercies of the sea, the Wizard Prospero has his chance to exact revenge. He and his sprite, Ariel, have everything organised, including encouraging the "Romeo and Juliet" love affair, but the unforeseen murderous intentions of a couple of the characters could throw a spanner in the works... Local actors, musicians, and dancers will bring Shakespeare's "The Tempest" to life outside in the beautiful Bason Botanic Gardens. Bring something to sit on; book a picnic hamper with your ticket or bring your own. Tickets available from Royal Wanganui Opera House. (Rain delay weekend will be the 1st, 2nd, 3rd March – information will be posted on Facebook, the website, the RWOH website, the AWA Event Guide Facebook and radio.)

EXHIBITIONS

For details on opening hours and locations, please see our Gallery listings.

EXPRESSIONS GALLERY

Thu 1 – Wed 28 Feb

Sue Kumeroa is a re-emerging artist who believes it, "Calls and sings to me." She deconstructs existing items, cuts, paints with acrylics, stitches, layers, reinvents and reassembles. Sue's pieces makes you want to reach out and touch. Sue is inspired by her neighbourhood, diversity and people. This medium of multi-media art is unique in New Zealand and will be an added stand out when she later exhibits from her home studio during Artists Open Studios. Jack Michaleski is highly esteemed part of the Whanganui arts community. Jack is a multi-medium artist whose current exhibition is based on his time in Chicago and the inspiration of Jazz music. Stunning installation pieces, along with deeply moving black and white photography that's reminiscent of classic French silhouettes. For opening times please see Gallery listings.
